Bentley Motorsport works racing driver, Seb Morris said:

"Anyone who wants the most out of life – professionally or personally – needs to have accessories that support a busy lifestyle and are a pleasure to use. The new Bentley Motorsport Collection items not only look sporty and stylish, but they feel nice and you can tell they are durable and well-made. Being a Bentley Motorsport works driver is something I am extremely proud of and having accessories that I can use every day that remind me of the heritage, successes and power of motorsport gives me the motivation to push harder."

His excellent performance in the Blancpain GT Series in 2018 and 2019 saw him promoted to the works team for 2020. Seb tested the new collection for the first time at the pre-season test at Silverstone, the home of British Motor Racing, where he was also coaching the young drivers on the inaugural Bentley Motorsport Academy.
